

International Rotary Chief To Speak Here

Arthur Lagueux, president of Rotary International, will speak here Feb. 8 at a meeting expected to attract 800 persons.

LAGUEUX

Rotarians and their wives will attend the meeting, which is to be held at noon in the Steak House. The session will attract many Rotarians who are visiting in Miami and members of clubs throughout the area.

Lagueux, a Quebec investment corporation president, will be making one of his few visits to Rotary clubs in the Southeastern part of the United States.

Participants in the program will include two past district governors, James I. Keller and James Donn, and the presidents of the five local clubs which are sponsoring the meeting, Alex Balfe, Miami; Edward Keating, Coral Gables; Walter Grundy, Miami Beach; H. W. MacDonald, South Miami; and James Garner, North Miami Shores.

James LeGate, a past president of the Miami club, will be in charge of the musical program.

Plans for the meeting were announced by J. Cleve Allen, Coral Gables, a director of Rotary International, who has just returned from a directors meeting in Chicago.

Reservations are being accepted by Harold McCay, secretary of the Miami club, with offices in the duPont building.
